Overview

Growing up in Enumclaw, Jill Trulson developed a strong work ethic from an early age, working alongside her family at their cherished business, Wapiti Woolies. Through this experience, she gained invaluable insights into customer service, teamwork, and the intricacies of running a successful enterprise. After transitioning from the family business, Jill discovered her true passion for providing exceptional assistance and support to others, leading her to establish her career as an assistant.

Jill is not only dedicated to her professional life but also cherishes her role as a wife and proud mother of two. Her commitment to family and community is at the heart of everything she does.
